CHANGE OF POLICY.

Employes of Chicago Railroads in Mass Meeting

Decide to Raise the Boycott on Quincy Freight.

Tie-up of the Various Railroads Relieved at Once.

Rock Island Replies in Judge Gresham's Court.

The Situation Raised

CHICAGO April 4—The final result of the meetings of employes of the various roads in the city which began yesterday afternoon and lasted until a late hour last night is announced this morning in the declaration that the boycott of Q cars has been permanently raised and henceforth the contest will be confined strictly to the Q strike All strikes except the Q were stopped forthwith and all those which were imminent were to be prevented The business of Chicago is to be conducted and maintained by the employers with strict decorum Other roads were absolved from the requirement of neutrality and violence is to be discountenanced according to the well known policy of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers The arrangement agreed upon, as it is stated is directly due to the exertions of Chief Arthur, of the Brotherhood of Engineers, Grand Master Sargeant of the Firemen Grand Master Monaghan of the switchmen's association Mayor Roche and Mark Sheridan who also represents the switchmen The final decision was reached by the mass meeting held with closed doors last evening and which was addressed by General Manager Jeffery, of the Illinois Central Fifteen hundred employees were present at the meeting representing elements which had previously been at times antagonistic

Grand Master Sargeant, of the firemen's brotherhood was the first to speak He stated that he came not only as the representative of the firemen, but also to voice the views of Chief Arthur, of the engineers The strike on the Burlington was a just cause, and they had asked every honorable means to treat with the company With such a record behind them it would not be proper for the strikers to stand by and see helpless people suffer from the base practices of the company Sargeant urged therefore that the boycott be raised and the 'Q' relieved of its most dangerous weapon General Manager Jeffery of the Illinois Central road told the men of the disasters that would follow a general tie up and appealed to them to shield their employers from such an infliction He said the company would not consent to a general blacklisting of the Burlington strikers by the railroads and he would use his influence with the managers of other roads toward the same result Grand Master Monaghan of the switchmen's association emphasized the points of the two preceding speakers so well that the boycott was declared raised and the meeting decided to redouble the energy against the Burlington Everybody connected with the system who could be spared to go out would be and one by one assessment after another was to be enforced Committees were appointed to wait on officials of the several roads and to report that all had acceded to by overwhelming majorities which business The engineers and firemen were then told that the object of the meeting was to instruct the committees as to their future action with a view to examination I have was done by the committees to get officials of the roads to accede to the proposal withdraw a number of the strikers have already left the immediate vicinity of the court Among these are C F Perkins president of the C B & Q Colonel P S Arthur chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive engineers, and W Medley chairman of the Western Railway association The Rock Island's reply says that yesterday's affidavit of Henry B Stone general manager of the Burlington displays a temper and recklessness in assertion and denial which renders it unnecessary that it be answered in detail The cross examination under the motion which will compel him to frame his own answers instead of having them prepared for him by counsel and in which he will have an opportunity to explain how he can form without the qualification even of information or belief the argument that the Burlington communicated to one or more managers of railways its purpose to boycott the Q unless all consented to join or that the Burlington ever attempted to coerce the Rock Island or other railways to withdraw their stockholders from an unlawful trust when such communications were made by other officers of the Burlington company and not in the presence of said Henry B Stone and the Rock Island says further it can by cross examination of said Henry B Stone and by the testimony of other witnesses whom it proposes to examine show each and every allegation the Rock Island has made and establish the falsity of every contrary allegation made in the affidavit of said Henry B Stone

Reiteration of the Rock Island's charges and the motion for reference to a master caused a hot interchange of denunciation between the attorneys of the two corporations Wirt Dexter for the Burlington warmly declared that the Rock Island officials were attempting a boycott against the Burlington and that the boycott was a criminal indictable offense in Illinois Judge Gresham interposed at this point with adjournment until this afternoon

When the court reconvened arguments were resumed At their conclusion Judge Gresham said even if the allegations made by the Rock Island were true it did not relieve that road from its duty as a common carrier Again he did not think the Rock Island had refused to do its duty The Burlington did not need protection from this its strongest competitor and as there was no danger of injury accruing to the Q road, no injunction would be issued just now Further developments he said might alter this order

Lowderly's Part.

CHICAGO April 4—The Times will say to-morrow in reference to the calling off of the boycott by the strikers that it is the result of negotiations between the Brotherhood of Engineers and Knights of Labor that a committee from the brotherhood went to Scranton a week ago to see Powderly and urged him to call out all the Knights of Labor employed on the Q road and if the strike should extend to other roads call out knights there as well to aid the striking engineers In return the engineers would make certain concessions The Times says Powderly refused to do anything to precipitate a general strike which he regarded as disastrous for all concerned but finally agreed if the boycott was declared off and all except the Q strikers went to work he would call out all the Knights among the Q employes The truth of this report remains to be seen No signs of it have yet developed

The New Campaign

CHICAGO April 4—It is broadly stated that in lifting the boycott the strikers calculated that all roads that had suspended relations with the Q would at once proceed to unload on that company all the cars that had accumulated and that its effect would be to swamp the Q with freight having conceived that the Burlington would be required under the law to furnish proper facilities for the handling of the freight, and this might grow into a fever to move the men back into their old positions with the Q Up to to night the judgment of the men seems to have been good but it will take more time to demonstrate whether or not the Burlington is capable of handling all the freight that is poured in

Stock Markets

NEW YORK April 4—Money on call 1½ to 2½ closed offered 2 percent the paper 5 to 7 The stock market was more active to day than any day for months and also decidedly strong almost from opening to close the last prices and the best for the day being in many cases identical The market advanced readily on more encouraging reports from Washington as to financial legislation now pending and especially news from Chicago of the raising of the boycott on Quincy freight which was regarded as the practical settlement of strikes in that region Governments were quiet but firm

Petroleum was active although fluctuations were not so wide as on previous days of the week It opened steady at 79½ and after first sales declined to 79 Standard Oil brokers then caused a sharp advance to 79½ after which it sagged off and closed weak at 79¼

WORK OF CONGRESS.

Beck's Silver Amendment to the Bond Bill Adopted

Teller Argues in Favor of the Complete Parity of Silver

Sherman Says he has Never Been Against It

The House Consumes the Day in Filibustering.

SENATE

WASHINGTON April 4—In the senate Dolly Stewart offered a resolution which was referred to direct the secretary of the treasury to report what amounts had been drawn from the treasury to prevent the importation of lead and lead ores from Mexico and to what extent the revenue laws and what legislation is necessary to prevent the smuggling of lead and lead ores

The senate resumed consideration of the bond bill the pending question being Beck's amendment

Teller criticised the statement of McPherson as to the country being within sixty days on a silver basis with gold at a premium The amendment should become a law He declared there was nothing in the financial experience of the country or the world that would justify the statement that if 4 50 000 000 silver coin were put on the market any difference would be made in the relative value of the silver dollar and silver bullion He denied that there was any intrinsic value in money, which made gold silver or paper It had simply a value corresponding with its ability to absorb labor The other question he said, did not cut any particular figure in the pending bill The amount of silver that would be coined under Beck's amendment would be insignificant and would have little or no influence on the value of silver, but it would tell the world that the great silver producing country of the world was satisfied it made a mistake when it partially demonetized silver and that step by step it proposed to go on until there was complete recognition of silver as a money metal in all respects with gold

The question was taken on Beck's amendment, and it was agreed to 37 to 13

Reagan offered an amendment directing the purchase and cancellation of bonds with $100 000 000 gold in the treasury for the redemption of legal tender notes

Farwell asked if he pretended to say legal tender notes were not a debt, as shown upon the face

Reagan said technically they were a debt but practically they were money The surest way to reduce the surplus and relieve taxation was by the adoption of his amendment

Later Reagan withdrew his amendment on the assurance of Beck that he would have an opportunity to offer it to another bill

Sherman moved to amend Beck's amendment by substituting silver bullion for silver coin over the two millions monthly but the presiding officer ruled it out of order Sherman said he knew his amendment was not in order but wanted to show that the senate was forced to act on a matter which had not been carefully examined by the committee The senator from Texas had spoken of there being distress in the country Sherman admitted the distress to the fact that the administration had not executed the law giving it full power to use the surplus in the purchase of bonds The democrats he said also refused to pass the senate bill allowing national bank currency to be issued to the full amount of bonds deposited The effect of this policy is that since the national bank currency had been reduced by $200 000 000 And that was not all When the banks commenced to reduce the only way they could do so was by depositing United States notes in the treasury and that they had done to the extent of $80 000 000 That $102 000 000 of United States notes were now held as the result of the faulty action of the house as the result of that policy of the democratic party was to make a double contraction of currency The distress could easily be relieved in two months by a short bill providing that national banking currency Sherman spoke of the overthrow of national banks It is nothing that would be a feather in the cap of the democratic party and substitute bank currency was the best that ever existed He stood there to defend the national banking system which was ruthlessly sought to be overthrown by various propositions submitted to the bill There had been an effort to undermine silver since the democratic party came into power He would not say that of the executive head of the administration but of representatives who came mainly from the southern states After opposing the silver bullion proposition in the morning measure he turned and he never had been friendly to silver If the policy which he had always advocated had been adopted and acted upon silver would never have depreciated in market value as it had Non maintenance of silver on a par with gold was a wise act of public policy and if it could not be brought up to that standard no approach to it could be made and then by a convention by European nations a new ratio might possibly be established and gold and silver placed to be side by side in the past but while gold and silver were differently rated in the market no single power in the world could bring them together and if the United States attempted it it would finally reach a single silver base thus detaching this country from the great commercial nations of the world He had no objection whatever to the issue of silver certificates on bullion in the treasury at the market value The United States should have done with the two nations did not coin any more silver than necessary for ordinary transactions On the influences of silver bullion certificates could have been issued from the beginning and could now The proposition from the senator from Texas would stop the good man hold for redemption of legal tender notes and would drive it abroad and into the banks to be hoarded and then when some black Friday came there would be a rush on gold and legal tender notes and gold and silver bullion would be at a premium He was willing to do all that can be done to maintain silver provided the senate stands by him in maintaining the two metals at par with each other until by common consent of the nations of the world there may be a ratio fixed upon reaching the present one

Beck's amendment to the bond bill was then adopted by a vote of 37 to 13

Sherman moved to lay the amendment on the table and without action the senate adjourned

HOUSE

After the reading of the journal an effort was made by friends of the special order the direct tax bill to make it the unfinished business which the democratic majority refused to do

Breckenridge made a motion that McMillin be excused from voting upon Taylor's motion

Reed of Maine and Burrows of Michigan made the point of order that the motion to excuse was not in order Reed suggested that if it were one motions could be submitted to excuse every member

The speaker said that while this might be very inconvenient he thought the motion to excuse was in order

Grosvenor of Ohio remarked, suggestively that it might be a very convenient motion for the minority to avail themselves of

Breckenridge of Arkansas withdrew his motion to excuse McMillin

The motion for recess was set aside by a motion to adjourn until Friday On this no quorum was voted, and a call of the house was ordered

At 10 30 the situation remains unchanged in the house except that there has been a gradual falling off in the number of members responding to their names upon roll call At this hour the prospects for an all night session are strengthening

A Shocking Tragedy in Mexico

CINCINNATI April 4—A special from the City of Mexico says The Two Republics published the following extract from Celaya On Sunday afternoon about forty five minutes past four o'clock the bull ring of Celaya was crowded with spectators of the general national sport A company of bull fighters of Leon was still playing with the first bull when two suddenly broke out on the sunny side of the plaza A panic seized upon the vast assemblage and a frightful catastrophe was the result The plaza was constructed of wooden masts ropes etc, and it was due to this fact that a majority of the people escaped without injury being able to force an opening permitting an exit at different points but many women and children jumped from the top a distance of two hundred to three hundred feet and over one hundred persons were seriously wounded Eighteen lives were lost

The sides of the plaza being lined with matting as dry as tinder and there being a slight wind blowing the amphitheatre was ablaze in a few seconds Nine dead bodies in some cases so charred as to be unrecognizable were taken from the smoking ruins Nine persons were so badly burned that they died in a few hours Sixty eight persons were very badly burned and it is said ten of them will die this week Fifty persons in escaping were trampled down and trample upon by the panic stricken throng and are very seriously but not fatally injured The bulls maddened by the roaring of the flames broke loose from their stalls and rushed wildly through the surging mass of humanity tossing aloft and knocking over all who stood in their way Among the casualties related were two women who were first gored to death by bulls and their bodies afterward burned

The scenes in the neighborhood of the bull ring were shocking beyond description Women and children dressed of their clothing and crazed with suffering from their burns ran unheedingly through the streets and could scarcely be overtaken or collected by their friends Several persons lost their reason from the excitement shocks to which they were subjected

The fire was incendiary In the Celaya jail were a number of prisoners army deserters who had obtained permission from the authorities to attend the bull fight They were accompanied by a strong guard of soldiers to prevent escape but one of the deserters succeeded in stealthily lighting a match and igniting one of the dry petates In an instant the whole side of the ring was ablaze In the confusion and excitement the prisoners succeeded in making good their escape taking the chances to effect their end

The best society of Celaya was in attendance It was Easter Sunday, the return of the season of gaiety after Lent There was an unusual number of ladies and little children present and these were the sufferers No man lost his life Helpless little ones and their mothers who would not desert their offspring were the victims of the appalling catastrophe Celaya is mourning to day On every side is heard the sound of wailing for loved ones dead dying or suffering It is the saddest tragedy that has occurred in the three centuries of the city's history

Acceptable to Mississippi.

JACKSON Miss April 4—The republican convention to day nominated delegates at large to the national convention as follows John R Lynch James Hill F W Stringer and John R McGill John R Lynch made a speech arraigning both the state and national administrations The convention did not instruct the delegates but referred to John Sherman as a popular statesman and one of the strongest men mentioned in connection with the presidency and one who's nomination would be specially acceptable to the state

At 8 o'clock three hundred masked men took possession of the jail after disabling the city electric lights and soon had Howe swinging to a derrick in the court house yard that had been used for hoisting stone Howe begged piteously for mercy but the citizens were determined and refused to even let him have a few minutes for prayer before swinging him into eternity

He stated to a representative of this paper that he had addressed a communication to the Colorado Springs board of trade in which he gave the reasons which made it impossible to locate his smelter at Colorado City. He said that he found that it would cost him about $11,000 to get the necessary trackage facilities on the Bott site and that a supply of water could not be secured for less than $35,000. He expected soon to begin the work of building the smelter at Pueblo.

The board of county commissioners were in session yesterday, and devoted the time at their disposal to the consideration of road matters. Mr. David McShane, the committee appointed by the old board to settle road damages with Mr. John Pring, reported in favor of paying that gentleman $20. He also reported that the Santa Fe Railroad company would pay the county $40 in the same case. Mr. Cornelius Murphy resigned his office as road overseer of district No. 11, and the board elected Mr J. S. Patterson to fill the vacancy. Mr. Patterson was directed to open the road on the proposed line leading southwest from Cascade. The road will be ultimately extended to Theodore, a station on the Colorado Midland railroad. The minutes of previous meetings were read and approved. The county clerk was directed to advertise for bids for furnishing bread and meat for use at the jail and poor house, the burial of paupers and printing for the year ending April 1st 1889. All bids must be presented on Friday April 6th at 2 p. m. Mr. L. F. BOULDER HEIGHTS TO THE FRONT.

My success in the Real Estate business I attribute largely to the fact that I have aimed to handle only First Class Properties. The only properties, as stated months ago, with which any dealer can make both buyer and seller happy—the seller is happy because he realizes a good price, and the buyer because he becomes the owner of a property that continually advances. A man with limited means, who invests in undesirable property, because it can be got at a low figure, will always be a man of small means. Hence I recommend only the best, and defy any one to bring in a single individual who has purchased Real Estate recommended by me during the past year who has not or cannot to-day realize from 25 to 50 per cent advance on their purchase. We offer no Chromos and build no Shelters, but offer only properties that are worth the money. We are now prepared to offer the choicest lots that we have ever been permitted to handle. BOULDER HEIGHTS possesses all the attractions, with scarcely an objectionable feature. Two blocks nearer the heart of the city than even the College reservation. Not only under the main irrigating ditch of the city, but also water for domestic use on each lot. Lots full size—fronting the avenues 140 and 150 feet in width. From each lot you can have the finest view over our city and also of the mountains that can be obtained from any point within the city limits. In fact this is the only location around our city that is first-class, and I can offer these lots with more assurance that investors will double their Money on present prices within the next four months than anything I have ever handled, and when I say this I mean just what I say.

The Granger Land and Town Co.

Now Offers For Sale the Entire

Town Site of Granger,

EL PASO COUNTY, COLORADO.

GRANGER is situated on the line of the Denver, Texas & Gulf R. R., about 18 miles northeast of Colorado Springs, in the center of the best Agricultural District in Colorado. The rainfall is sufficient to perfect good crops, and irrigation is entirely unnecessary. All the available Land within a radius of twenty-five miles has been taken up by bona fide settlers, and improvements are rapidly being made on all the occupied land.

Granger has one of the best Town Sites in the State. It commands an extended view in every direction. The site is almost perfectly level, with a slight fall to the southeast. Water is obtainable within 10 feet of the surface on the entire Town Site. The streets are all 80 feet in width, and the lots are all 50x130, excepting the business lots, which are 25x150 feet. The town lies on both sides of the railroad. The Surveyed Line of THE CHICAGO AND ROCK ISLAND RAILROAD Runs Parallel with that of the DENVER, TEXAS & GULF RAILROAD through the Center of the Town, and forms a Junction with the latter at this point, and will be the Construction Headquarters of Rock Island Extension in Colorado. Granger is destined to become an important town in the near future by reason of its location. It is an Objective Point on the lines of all the Railroads now heading for the Rocky Mountains, and also from the fact that it is located in a Rich and Fertile Region, where good water is reached at a shallow depth. It is an important Shipping point on the D., T. & G. R. R. for a large section of country. In the matter of business handled Granger ranks third on the line of the road.

The lots will be sold on the popular Allotment Plan, as follows:

PRICE: $25.00 Each.

The drawing for location, due notice of which will be given, will occur not later than May 1st next, and will be conducted by a competent committee selected by the certificate holders. The company will include in the drawing every alternate lot in the entire town site as platted, beginning with lot 1 in each block, reserving only numbers 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 18 and 19 in block 1; number 18 in block 2; numbers 1, 21 and number 17 in block 31; numbers 1, 2 and 3 in block 41, and block 22.

All these lots have been sold and deeded. The object in reserving thus each alternate lot throughout the entire plat, and selling the other at the low price of $25, when there is not a lot in the entire site but what is well worth $100 (some of the reserved lots above mentioned have been sold at this figure), is to enhance the value of property reserved by inducing the purchasers to build and improve over the entire plat. After the drawing prices will be advanced on lots reserved. Lots will be for sale until April 15th at the following places:

ROCK ISLAND SUBSCRIPTIONS.

To-morrow night the board of trade will meet and it is hoped the committee on the Rock Island will be able to make its final report that the money necessary to secure the right of way is all raised. We regret that some of our readers have felt that the subscription was unnecessary. It is probably true that the Rock Island would not choose its terminal point for the sole purpose of receiving a gift of $25,000. But it is also true that while the terminal point was undecided the Rock Island might have been influenced by the fact that its terminal facilities and right of way would not cost anything at Colorado Springs but nearly a million of dollars in Denver. All we are asked to do is to furnish a right of way into the city. It is a modest request and one in equity we should grant. We are benefitted much more than this before the coming of the railroad. The committee of the board of trade, in the spirit in which it was appointed offered to swing in securing this right of way and we are in honor as well as in justice bound to keep good this promise. It is easy for any of our readers to judge how much his neighbor should give. You have to judge of how much you are benefited as a citizen and property owner and give accordingly. The committee may not be able to collect all to-day. We trust that some will wait for this. It is the duty of every good citizen to co-operate with the committee, and not make its work more arduous than necessary. Many have given very small amounts in proportion to the benefits received, and we trust they will not wait to be solicited to raise their subscription before doing so. Seven thousand dollars remain to be raised, and it should be subscribed by to night so that we may print the full list in the morning.

The republican vote of this city is twenty per cent of the whole vote. This can be united and voted solidly this fall if the interest and welfare of the whole party are consulted.

Capt M. L. De Coursey, our enterprising real estate agent heads the Rock Island subscription list with the generous amount of one thousand dollars. He is quite willing however, to stand second or fifth in the list if citizens much more able to give will raise him.

The strikers have apparently been defeated in their efforts to boycott the Burlington through the other railroads. The course which the strikers pursued in attempting to coerce the railroad companies with whom they had no grievances has greatly weakened their case.

There is a fair chance of the Mills tariff bill passing the house but not in its present form. There are enough democrats who will vote with republicans to strike out everything in the bill relating to free wool. If free wool is stricken out there are but very few democrats who will oppose the bill.

Fears are entertained that the United States government will adopt severe measures in its treatment of the Morocco difficulty. It is not to surprising that the inhabitants of that country should experience such feelings at the sight of one of Secretary Whitney's gunboats. If an English cruiser was to appear their fears would give place to abject terror.

Our esteemed evening contemporary seems to be wholly unable to understand the issues involved in Tuesday's election and we must leave it to the softening influences of time and death. We will however explain to this extent. We did not oppose certain candidates before the republican convention for fear we might lead our esteemed contemporary according to its chronic disposition to favor them and thus lead it into the error of supporting an unsuccessful candidate.

Senator Dawes of Massachusetts is one of the best informed men in public life on the Indian problem. The Hartford Courant thus speaks of a letter which he has recently written.

Senator Dawes has written another letter in reply to what he considers the ignorant criticism of his allotment in severalty bill. If this bill becomes a law it will give the Indian head of a family a title to his 160 acres of land such as is enjoyed by no other owner of real estate in the country—a title too guaranteed by the United States. For a period of twenty five years at least he can not alienate his land he can not legally obligate himself to sell it at the end of the quarter century it can not be taxed it can not [illegible] but an act of congress can withdraw from his ownership and possession. Having done this for the Indian legislation Senator Dawes thinks will have done all for him it can do. The rest he must do for himself with such help, advice and encouragement as the wise and Christian people of the country may see the way to afford. This is the spirit given in the [illegible] says the creator gave of the home which the statute has given him and ambition and hope that through it he may come up to be not only a citizen in fact but a self supporting member of the society and people among whom he lives. This can not be done by enactment. It must be done by outside patient labor and constant and vigilant care of the Indian for the twenty five years or more of his pupilage. Otherwise his last state like that of the Steel Clad Indians will be worse than his first. The senator is right on this last point at any rate. The law can do much for the Indians the patient, judicious help of good people unselfishly solicitous for his welfare can do more, but in the end his fate will remain in his own hands. He will have to make his choice between good and evil civilization and extinction for himself. The most the law [illegible] good people can do is to [illegible] and educate him into [illegible]
